1. Oral presentation. Classroom lectures. High group lessons leading to the different concepts and procedures presentation relating to the subject and helping by bibliography and audiovisual materials.

2. Discussion and debate. Verbal presentation is combined with discussion activities and questions to be answered by the students so that they can build new concepts based on known concepts (related to other subjects already studied or to other topics of the program there are important interrelations with).

3. Bibliographic resources discussed reading.

4. Visualization of audiovisual materials (documentaries, films, etc.) and discussion and debate about them.

5. Presentation of the works carried out autonomously. This activity is programmed so that the students can present the works and materials elaborated in an autonomous way.

6. To take a test. This activity aims to assess the learning outcomes of students in relation to the objectives or competencies that arise in the teaching plan of the subjects that make up a field of study.

8. Experiences and practical applications. This activity, together with the previous one, is aimed at the simulation and practice of strategies and techniques presented by specialists and professionals (presentation of psycho-pedagogical reports, different kinds of curricular adaptations, and analysis of social contexts), discussion and analysis of scientific and technical documentaries.

12. Projects design. The aim of this activity is to guide and coordinate several aspects of the project (objective work definition, bibliography selection, structure, etc.) in an autonomous way, individual or in small groups.

13. Guiding, decision-making and learner doubts solving. To follow-up the distance learner work. Monitoring of individual or small groups work. Individual and group guiding.

14. Reading of documents previous to the teacher oral presentation.

15. Subject study and exam preparation.

16. Searching and viewing of bibliography material for projects.

Learning outcomes

- Knowledge of all the material explained in the course, both in its theoretical and practical aspects

- The management of the bibliographic sources recommended for each topic and in the realization of the works, as well as the presence and participation of the students in class, will be valued.

- The student has to write and express himself correctly. Spelling and expression errors in the writing of the test and in the several works will be subject to penalty, and may be sufficient to fail the subject.

Assessment systems

As indicated in the regulations and assessment procedures, the following procedure is MANDATORY:

“La elección de la modalidad de evaluación global corresponde a los estudiantes, que podrán llevarla a cabo, durante los plazos establecidos más adelante en este mismo artículo, para cada una de las convocatorias (ordinaria y extraordinaria) de cada asignatura. Para ello, el profesorado gestionará estas solicitudes, a través de un espacio específico creado para ello en el Campus Virtual. En caso de ausencia de solicitud expresa por parte del estudiante, la modalidad asignada será la de evaluación continua. La elección de la modalidad de evaluación global supone la renuncia al derecho de seguir evaluándose de las actividades de la modalidad de evaluación continua que resten y a la calificación obtenida hasta ese momento en cualquiera de las que ya se hayan celebrado. Los plazos para elegir la modalidad global serán los siguientes: Para las asignaturas con docencia en el primer semestre, durante el primer cuarto del periodo de impartición de las mismas. Para las asignaturas con docencia en el segundo semestre, durante el primer cuarto del periodo de impartición de las mismas o hasta el último día del periodo de ampliación de matrícula si este acaba después de ese periodo”.

This subject assessment includes two main sections:

1. Written exam: Objective and / or development test, which constitutes 60% of the final mark. In this test the competences and the theoretical knowledge acquired by the student will be evaluated.
2. Continuous evaluation: portfolios; observation of student involvement and participation in seminars and engagement in tutorials; production of diaries and other written documents; defence of different works; presentation of tasks and activities; technical quality of written documents, among others. These practical training activities will constitute 40% of the final mark and are broken down as follows:
 - a) Valuation of the preparation and compulsory presentations in class of a Lesson Planning (20%). This activity will NOT be recoverable, so it is COMPULSORY for all students who take this subject. The professor will publish at the beginning of the course the date (s) of the Lesson Planning presentation.
 - b) Activities and / or tasks that the student performs in a practical and compulsory way in seminars regarding different matters of the program, attendance at class and attitude and participation or engagement of the student in all tasks and / or activities proposed in class (20%).

It is essential that the student obtains a minimum score of 3 points out of 6 in the written exam and 2 points out of 4 in the practical part (seminars and Lesson planning). Both parts will be joined to obtain the final mark of the subject this test will consist of the following sections:

Final global alternative test,

1. Written exam: objective and / or development test, which constitutes 60% of the final grade. In this test the competences and the theoretical knowledge acquired by the student will be evaluated
2. Practical part: It is a practical test that will include questions or aspects raised in the sessions of face-to-face seminars. Such test will consist of preparing written documents, tasks and / or activities. The technical quality of these documents that the student makes on the day of the exam (20%) will be evaluated.

The remaining 20% of the mark corresponds to the preparation and presentation of the lesson planning that will be carried out on the date published by the professor at the beginning of the course.

It is essential that the student obtain a minimum score of 4 points out of 8 in the written exam and 1 point out of 2 in the Lesson planning. Both parts will be joined to obtain the final grade of the subject.

The student has to choose one or another modality of examination in the first three weeks of the beginning of the subject (1st semester). The student will inform in writing about the type of assessment chosen according to the established procedure in each educational and training Centre. If the student doesn't present this communication, it will be understood that he / she opts for the continuous evaluation. Once the type of evaluation has been chosen, the student will not be able to change in the ordinary call of that semester and will follow the evaluation norm for the extraordinary call.
