

16th International Doctoral Student Workshop on Logistics, Supply Chain and Production Management

The Institute of Logistics and Material Handling Systems of the Otto von Guericke University, Magdeburg, will host the 16th International Doctoral Student Workshop on June 20, 2023.

Doctoral students from a variety of countries are invited to present their research in the wider field of logistics and discuss their work with other participants and logistics experts in thematic groups. In recent years the workshop became a recognized forum for scientific exchange between researchers from all over the world. The accepted papers will be peer reviewed and published in a volume of proceedings subsequent to the workshop (Open Access Publication). We are looking forward to your attendance and presentation of your work. The workshop participation and publication are free of charge. Travel and subsistence expenses are not covered.
